

In This Edition...

- Things to Do Today...
- Insights From the Front Lines
- Take Note: *Education Brief
- Think Spring. Think Success
- Value of Membership

View this e-mail as a Web page

Education Solutions

November 2006

Training »

On-site Training

Continuous improvement training delivered to your school, district, or team. Implementation leads to remarkable improvement.

Book »

New Release!

Transformation to Performance Excellence: Baldrige Education Leaders Speak Out

Sandra Cokeley, Margaret A. Byrnes, Geri Markley, and Suzanne Keely, editors

Journal »

Case Study on a Proven School Improvement Model
Access to The Journal for Quality and Participation subscribers only.
Not a subscriber? Become one today

ASQ Links »

Things to Do Today...

We know you're busy, but don't forget that the 14th National Quality Education Conference is November 12-14, 2006, in Dallas. If you are planning to attend, register today and guarantee you'll be among the leaders in education.

Insights From the Front Lines

Teachers from the Mountain View Whisman School District have been learning how to "Lead Continuous Improvement" in their school. Blog host Jay Marino provided an opportunity for participants to share their insight. Read what Jay had to say...

Take Note: Education Brief

Edited by Margaret Byrnes, Education Brief contains news and information on a variety of continuous-improvement topics such as change management, innovation, student achievement, and measurable progress. Read the current edition and sign up today to receive your very own copy.