ASQ Section 1211 Mission Statement

To serve as a catalyst for quality improvement by networking with our members and the community to provide resources, training, and professional development opportunities.

ASQ Section 1211 Vision Statement

Our vision is to be recognized by our ASQ members, community and business leaders as a true champion for promoting the quality sciences.

November 2011 Chairman's Corner:

November is World Quality Month and ASQ has a special deal to help push recruitment of new members. You may have already seen the program – each member can give one free six-month membership. If you know someone who might be interested, I would encourage you to talk to them and get them signed up. It won't cost them anything, and just maybe they'll see a benefit to belonging and decide to stay with us. See www.asq.org or details.

Information about World Quality Month events and activities can be found at www.worldqualitymonth.org. And of course closer to home there's the Northern Illinois Quality Conference on November 15, with workshops being held the day before. The conference will be located on the Northern Illinois University eastern campus in Naperville, IL.

Don't forget our next Technical Meeting will be November 15, and will feature a presentation by Dr. Jay Marino, Superintendent at the Dunlap School District. The location for the meeting is Ravina on the Lakes. Look for more information in this edition of Q-Notes.

Have a "Quality" day.

Harry Bateman
ASQ Section 1211 Chair

Join Together for World Quality Month 2011!

Last November, ASQ, together with organizations, leaders, and stakeholders in the Global Quality Community, celebrated the inaugural World Quality Month. The programs, events, Internet presence, and conversations on the impact and opportunity of quality gained considerable attention and were considered a success.

This year, as you are aware, ASQ plans to again partner with you, our members, and the greater Quality Community for World Quality Month in November 2011. We are excited by the opportunity to collaborate with you to continue to raise the voice and show the impact of quality worldwide.

Together we will mark World Quality Month throughout November in many ways. First, ASQ is developing a dedicated website, WorldQualityMonth.org, which will offer you and all our customers, members, and stakeholders a place to learn about quality tools and techniques, heroes and the stories of quality in practice everyday, and World Quality Month events in our communities and regions. As part of this website, ASQ will feature written and video commentary from ASQ Enterprise Quality Roundtable member executive leaders that address the state of quality today. We'd like to invite you to show our united voice of quality by:

Being part of our "YouQ" video contest that will give you and the entire quality community an opportunity to showcase stories in quality (you can find more information on the ASQ Facebook page).

Sharing information and links to your organization's planned activities for consideration of their inclusion in our worldwide calendar of events; please send the event name, date, location, and any other details to Amanda Lowinske (alowinske@asq.org) by August 26, 2011.

Helping us spread the word about World Quality Month to those in your affiliated quality community by promoting WorldQualityMonth.org; for example, consider including the WorldQualityMonth.org address in your email signature during the month of November.

ASQ's senior leader coordinating World Quality Month 2011 is ASQ Managing Director Laurel Nelson-Rowe (lnelson-rowe@asq.org, 800-248-1946, ext. 7433), supported by her executive assistant, Rhonda Begos (rbegos@asq.org, 800-248-1946, ext. 7818). Both are available to you for questions, to gather new ideas to add to the celebration, and to serve as resource contacts. Additionally, your staff contacts in ASQ Community Development and in ASQ Global can also help you with your questions.

ASQ has long admired your commitment to quality, and we look forward to partnering with you again in celebrating World Quality Month 2011. Please be in touch with us soon to discuss your plans and to participate!

Thank you!

Kind regards,

Jim Rooney

ASQ Historical Bio

Dr. Harry G. Romig began his quality journey as an educator, teaching mathematics and science. He later acquired a Masters in Physics and a Doctorate in Industrial Engineering. He began working at Bell Labs under Harold Dodge and the two created the well-known Dodge-Romig Sampling Tables. Romig contributed to many advancements in the quality control field while at Bell. He is a founding member of ASQC. In 1953 ASQC awarded him the Shewhart Medal and made him an Honorary Member in 1982.

ATTENTION MEMBERS: We are in need of volunteers for our Fund Raising Committee. In the past we have held car washes and softball tournaments to raise money to support our Section 1211 Scholarship Fund. This fund is used for the Frank Gryna and Jan Droege Memorial Scholarships awarded each year to college students within the 1211 area. If you would like to help, please contact Fund Raising Committee Chairman Matt Ward at: wardmj768@gmail.com
